

Recent Developments in Clinical Psychology
Summer School Series presents:

PSYCHOANALYSIS ON TRAUMA AND BEYOND

ORGANIZED BY
EÖTVÖS LORÁND UNIVERSITY FACULTY OF EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY
AND
THE HUNGARIAN PSYCHOANALYTICAL SOCIETY

Our international summer school creates a forum to discuss recent developments, theoretical and practical problems of the profession.
The focus of this year's discussion will be the crucial aspects of psychoanalytic clinical insight mainly those referring to trauma.

The event is open to clinical psychology students of MA and PhD level, students of postgraduate programs of clinical psychology, psychiatry or psychotherapy as well as for clinical psychologists, psychiatrists or psychotherapists. The summer school offers academic credits for those who complete the course successfully.

Registration starts on 15 February 2017

Further information: summerschool.elte.hu

Caroline Garland

Understanding trauma: A psychoanalytic point of view

psychoanalyst in private practice and consultant clinical psychologist, she worked over 25 years at the Tavistock Clinic, London

Eszter Hámori

The roots of traumatization in infancy and early childhood

clinical child psychologist and child psychotherapist, psychoanalyst, head of the Department of Developmental and Clinical Child Psychology, Pázmány Péter Catholic University, Budapest

Martin Teising

Internal world and its outside appearance: Psychoanalytic reflections training analyst of the German Psychoanalytic Association (DPV), former president of the DPV (2010-2012), president of the International Psychoanalytic University, Berlin

Zsolt Unoka

Traumatised identities: The impact of recognition related trauma on identity formation

psychiatrist, psychotherapist, psychoanalyst and CBT therapist, deputy director of the Department of Psychiatry and Psychotherapy, and head of the Psychotherapy Unit at Semmelweis University, Budapest

Eva Weil

Latency in collective trauma and their clinical traces psychoanalyst, researcher at Sorbonne, Paris I & CNRS in IRICE and at University Paris VII in the team of Psychoanalysis & Medicine

MAGYAR
PSZICHOANALITIKUS
EGYESÜLET

03-07 JULY 2017
BUDAPEST, HUNGARY

